Announced by the government, this ambitious project will install solar panels in rural areas, aiming to provide electricity for 20,000 families across 110 communities in 35 municipalities.

The 120 MW project will contribute to the decarbonization of the Bolivian energy matrix and will benefit more than 318,000 people, consolidating Bolivia's leadership in renewable energies in the region. The Board of Directors of CAF, Development Bank of Latin America and the Caribbean, approved.

Bolivia is making significant strides in rural electrification with a $325 million investment in renewable energy. Announced by the government, this ambitious project will install solar panels in rural areas, aiming to provide electricity for 20,000 families across 110 communities in 35.

Bolivia has one of the highest solar radiation rates in the world, making it an ideal location for implementing photovoltaic solar technologies. Despite this potential, large-scale use of renewable energy remains limited. However, initiatives like InnovaSol, driven by the Solydes Foundation, aim to.

To allow for 300,000 photovoltaic solar panels in the western Bolivian town of Ancotanga, local inhabitants gave up land in exchange for promises of jobs and healthcare — that they are still waiting to see.
