Niamey (Niger) (AFP) - Solar panels like the ones on the roof of Elhadj Abdou's house are an increasingly common sight in Niger's capital, which is often hit by power cuts. Issued on: 16/04/2025 - 09:23 Modified: 16/04/2025 - 09:22 "There are no more power cuts here and there are no bills to pay.

Niger is taking significant strides to address its energy challenges, as new solar projects begin to transform the landscapes of Niamey and Zinder. These initiatives aim to reduce the country's dependence on electricity imports from Nigeria, marking a pivotal shift toward energy self-sufficiency.

The Niger Solar Electricity Access Project (NESAP), aimed at enhancing electricity access in rural and peri-urban areas of Niger through solar energy, started in 2017 and has built 15 solar power plants. This project, funded by the World Bank through the International Development Association (IDA).

On July 17, China Energy Construction Gezhouba Group and Niger National Electricity Company signed a business contract for the Niger Agadez diesel-photovoltaic complementary energy storage power station project. This is another livelihood project signed by Gezhouba Group in Niger after the Kandadji.
