Overview

How important is interconnection to Ukraine's electricity security?

Interconnection with the main European system ⁴ has made a crucial contribution to Ukraine's electricity security, with the limit on cross-border trade ⁵ increasing to 1.7 GW in November 2023. Before the 2022 invasion, Ukraine's power system was interconnected with the Russian and Belarussian grids.

Does Ukraine need a long-term energy system?

More than ever, Ukraine needs support to transition towards a long-term energy system that is resilient, flexible and secure. The EU has the expertise, the ability and the will to help make that happen. Ukraine's energy systems have suffered significant damage since the full-scale invasion of 2022.

Does Ukraine have a reliable energy supply in wartime?

Ukraine's experience demonstrates the immense challenge of ensuring a reliable energy supply in wartime. The same goes for the grid. Ukraine's extensive transmission infrastructure has suffered severe damage in the war, with capacity falling from 56 GW to an estimated 9 GW by the end of 2024.

Is the energy war between Kyiv and Moscow heating up?

Just as world leaders are attempting to jump-start peace talks, the energy war between Kyiv and Moscow is heating up, as each side tries to weaken the other's hand in negotiating an end to the war. Just this month, the Ukrainian Army has claimed at least 10 attacks on Russian oil facilities, with Russian officials acknowledging half of them.
