The preparation of documentation is going as planned and the first works on the project in Serbia for solar power plants of 1 GW in total and batteries is expected by early 2026, Minister of Mining and Energy Dubravka Đedović Handanović said. Minister of Mining and Energy of Serbia Dubravka Đedović.

Minister of Mining and Energy Dubravka Đedović Handanović and energy company Elektroprivreda Srbije (EPS) General Manager Dušan Živković signed a contract today with the consortium of Hyundai Engineering and UGT Renewables for the project to build self-balanced solar power plants in Serbia. The.

Europe's industrial transformation between 2026 and 2030 will not be powered solely by large infrastructure projects, renewable assets, electrification systems or manufacturing upgrades. At the heart of this transformation lies something quieter but equally decisive — materials intelligence. The.

Now there are plans in place for UGT Renewables and Hyundai Engineering to provide a series of self-balanced utility-scale solar projects bringing reliable, renewable energy to every corner of Serbia. Delivering the utmost flexibility to the Serbian government, the Large-Scale Solar and Battery.

Serbia is taking a significant step toward a sustainable energy future, signing a strategic partnership with South Korea's Hyundai Engineering to develop a solar power project generating an impressive one gigawatt of electricity. Formalized by Serbian President Aleksandar Vučić and Hyundai.

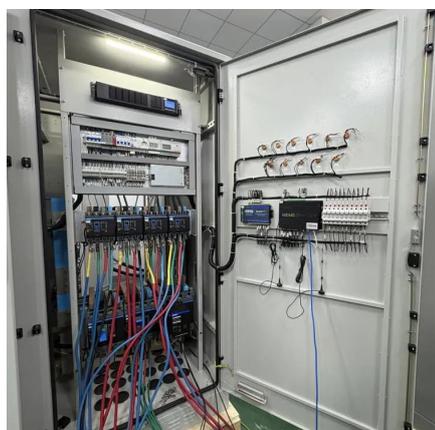

Plans to develop 1 GW of new solar capacity in Serbia are moving forward following the signing of an implementation agreement. The contract was signed earlier this week by Serbia's Minister of Mining and Energy, Dubravka Đedović Handanović, along with representatives from the state-owned power.
